Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 04 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry with plenty of sunny spells. Warm days, chilly overnight.

Today:
After a chilly start, Friday will be a fine day with plenty of warm spells of sunshine. Thicker cloud may edge into the far east with an isolated shower possible. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry through the evening and overnight with many seeing long clear spells throughout. A chilly night with light winds allowing for fog patches to develop in prone areas. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Saturday:
Another largely dry day with sunny spells. Cloud will bubble up during the afternoon with the odd isolated shower possible. Feeling pleasant in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Largely dry throughout with sunny spells and a few showers. Showers turning more frequent and heavier on Monday. Feeling warm, with light winds.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.